BRIEFING REQUIREMENTS

Legal Standards

The Court is familiar with the standard of review and the five-step sequential evaluation process. The parties should thus avoid boilerplate discussions of these standards and should focus on applying pertinent and controlling legal authority to the facts of this case.

Plaintiff's Opening Brief

(a) Beginning on page one, Plaintiff must list the errors claimed, followed by a clear statement of the relief requested. General statements, such as "the ALJ's decision is not supported by substantial evidence," are unacceptable. The Court will not consider or rule on assignments of error that are not listed in this section of the opening brief.

(b) Plaintiff shall provide a brief summary of the pertinent procedural history and present the relevant facts in the argument section in the context of the specific errors claimed. Plaintiff should not set forth a separate lengthy recitation of background facts or medical evidence.

(c) The opening brief must fully explain each issue raised on page one and cite to the specific pages of the administrative record and the applicable legal authority that support each argument and request for relief.

Defendant's Response Brief

Beginning on page one, Defendant shall indicate whether each error raised in the opening brief is disputed or undisputed. Defendant need not address Plaintiff's procedural summary unless there is disagreement. Subsequent sections of the response brief must respond to each disputed assignment of error and request for relief and must cite specific pages of the administrative record and applicable legal authority.

1           Personal Data and Formatting

2           All briefs must conform to the redaction rules regarding personal data set forth in LCR 5.2
3 and to the formatting requirements set forth in LCR 10.

4           In addition, all briefs must use the Bates number stamped on the lower right-hand corner
5 of each page when citing to specific pages of the administrative record.

6           The Court may strike or return for correction briefs not conforming to this Order.
